

Progress of Archaeological Projects
(as at 15 February 2019)

Item	Project	Background	Progress/Result
Archaeological projects undertaken by the Antiquities and Monuments Office
1.	Archaeological survey for small house development at Sok Kwu Wan, Lamma Island	An archaeological survey to examine the archaeological potential of a village house site located within the Lo So Shing Site of Archaeological Interest, Lamma Island.	Fieldwork was conducted from late October to early November 2018. No significant archaeological remains were found from the test pits of the survey.
2.	Archaeological survey for small house developments at Fan Lau Sai Wan, Lantau Island	An archaeological survey to examine the archaeological potential of two village house sites located within the Fan Lau Sai Wan Site of Archaeological Interest, Lantau Island.	Fieldwork was conducted from late December 2018 to mid-January 2019. Prehistoric stone implements and pottery sherds were found in the test pits of the survey.